

Brainbench Candidate Assessment and Reporting System

Improve Hiring Success—Validate Candidate Skills Accurately, Quickly, and Anywhere, with SkillsBench

Employee skills have a tremendous impact on all facets of business success. And nowhere are skills more important to a corporate decision than in the recruiting and hiring process.

Give hiring managers and recruiters immediate access to objective data about candidate skills, and your hiring process will improve. They will be able to identify qualified professionals more quickly. They will be able to verify candidate skills instantly. And they will be able to make informed decisions supported by objective candidate skills data, quickly and easily.

SkillsBench, the online skills measurement system from Brainbench, gives you the tools to achieve these capabilities and improve hiring success, with a proven online skills measurement, administration and reporting system.

Accelerate the Hiring Process—Stop sifting through résumés. SkillsBench makes candidate prescreening easy, enabling your hiring managers to focus on the people with the skills you need.

Validate Candidate Skills with Proven Reliable Assessments—The SkillsBench system provides access to more than 425 Brainbench ISO 9001-2000 Certified online assessments across all major professional skills, from office skills to IT, computer software, management, industry knowledge, language and communication, and more.

Measure Skills Through Multiple Departments or Locations—SkillsBench makes skills assessments easy to administer anywhere, anytime. Assessments can be taken onsite or remotely, and detailed results are available immediately.

Compare Skills by Region, or Against a Global Database—Compare assessment results to the Brainbench database of results from more than 5.7 million tests taken around the world. View percentile rankings. Compare by region. Or compare results within your candidate database.

Put Objective Skills Data at Your Fingertips—SkillsBench reports are available online, with detailed results about candidate skill levels, strengths, and weaknesses within each given subject.

For more information: To learn how to get started with a SkillsBench Candidate Skills Assessment and Reporting system, contact Tim Leahy, Brainbench Account Executive at 703-674-3445, or email info@brainbench.com

Measure the skills that drive your success, with SkillsBench. Authorized SkillsBench administrators from your organization can administer assessments, identify top performers, or make comparisons, all from one online location.

“Our [SkillsBench] system provides detailed scoring, which is very valuable...it’s the quality of the data that we’re looking for: not just the validation of skill, but the detail of that validation.”

—Edge Knowlin

*Americas IT Specialist
Profession Discipline Leader
IBM*

“Each assessment question is tough, and I have to make my answer quickly. That’s what I do on the job. It’s not just about knowing the answers; it’s about knowing where to find the answers, and finding them quickly.”

—Henko TerBlanche

IT Consultant and Brainbench Test-taker

“The [Brainbench] assessment gives us a common foundation for measuring skills...across all of our many IT organizations.”

—Kevin Travis,

*Manager,
IT Learning Center and Technical Systems
Wells Fargo*

www.brainbench.com/business